The professional voice of London general practice

From Mindfulness to Reflection: how to stay healthy in today's NHS, event for GPs 12
October and 10 November 2016

From Mindfulness to Reflection

The programme is aimed at those who face challenges with excessive workload, system changes and expectations from patients, commissioners and the media. It will provide a safe space for sharing concerns and identify needs, and aims to give participants tools and techniques to enable them to move forward and deal with constant changes in general practice and the wider NHS. The aims of the event include:

To create a safe and confidential space where difficulties can be discussed openly

Support GPs to identify and prioritise the stressors in their working life

Provide the GPs with alternative ways of thinking that will help them to manage these stresses in their workplace

Enable GPs to self-reflect, maintain a high level of patient care and look after their own wellbeing, while achieving a better work-life balance
