New online training for London practice staff

Londonwide LMCs' Buying Group member Practice Index is trusted by practice managers across London and throughout the UK, keeping them up to date with the latest legislation and providing valuable, time-saving resources. Their recently launched 'Receptionists in General Practice' course is designed specifically for all GP receptionists, new and experienced, and is delivered online. The course's four modules cover issues such as confidentiality and privacy, communications skills, conflict resolution and complaints, and health and safety and compliance. Real life scenarios are used and each module highlights the relevance of the subject to CQC and has a video and a quiz.
