

Coronavirus sources for patients: charities and other organisations

We have collated guidance and resources from charities and other organisations which provide information for the public and for professionals about coronavirus. This list is not exhaustive, organisations not listed here may also have produced advice. Where possible we have provided a publication date, but we cannot guarantee that the guidance linked to is the most recent. You may also find our page of links to local borough information useful. Below this list are links to national faith and religious bodies and London-based inter faith member bodies. These resources are provided as links you may wish to share with patients who are seeking chaplaincy and bereavement support from their religious community, they are also useful for understanding what advice patients are receiving from faith leaders.
