Call-out for remote consulting resources

If you are a GP with extensive experience of remote consulting we are urgently looking for instructional videos to explain how to safely conduct a number of examinations via phone or video link.

This is a call for the sharing of expertise on performing remote consultations. We want to share guides to help manage work during the current crisis, for example a GP explaining how to examine for back ache, and a crib sheet.

Please send links for anything you have produced / think might be helpful to mword@lmc.org.uk.
